

DA S. Wilson, of the Santa Maria High School, won the Development Association's prize for the best essay on traffic safety. Miss Wilson's prescription was the Golden Rule.

Would not that same maxim earn the prize for almost any discussion of almost any subject? The only infallible rule is that the rule shall work both ways. Even the carpenter tests his spirit level by turning it both ways. If the bubble rests at the same point in both directions the instrument is accurate.

Try it on the traffic. Give the sort of signal you would like the other fellow to give. Try it in business. Treat your customers as you like to be treated when you are customer. Try it on your wife. That is perhaps next to the hardest of all.

THE hardest place to try the Golden Rule is in industrial relations. The labor union has a scab list, but regards the black-list as monstrous. The employers' association boycotts anyone who will not join it in preventing the unions from boycotting. The workers insist that labor is not a commodity, and then demand that employers buy it wholesale, as an impersonal commodity. Employers insist collectively on the right to require workmen to deal non-collectively, and send their self-chosen representatives to limit the list from which labor's representatives may be chosen. Whatever weapon we most condemn, on the other side, we defiantly use ourselves. The answer to it all is the carpenter's method. Turn your level both ways.

THE Oakland Safety Council spreads signs on the billboards, reminding you that "400 citizens" are reporting traffic violations, and that you are therefore not safe even when no speed cop is looking. And nobody objects. Rather, there is a fine civic pride in the fact that so many volunteers are co-operating with the police in enforcing safety regulations.

But when an order was issued which might improve the co-operation of local and federal officers in enforcing the prohibition laws, there was a terrific howl. The right of violators of these laws to be exempt from interference except by those authorized under the strictest construction of the law was more sacred than the enforcement of the law itself.

What is the difference?

Evidently that everybody wants the one law enforced, while a vociferous minority wants the other law not enforced.

GLEE is expressed by the wets because the Senate committee consented even to report against their sheet of anti-prohibition laws. Hitherto they could not get even that small notice. That the report is adverse they explain by the "bone-dry" constitution of the committee.

But what else could even a "soaking wet" committee have done?

The committee, in fact, did not by its action go much beyond the inaction of its predecessors. It did not discuss the merits of the bills, nor even consider whether they would be desirable or undesirable. It merely reported that since all the bills proposed were such that the Constitution expressly forbade Congress to pass, there was nothing in them to refer to Congress; and that, since the Constitution provided no method or authority under which the proposed referendum could be held, there was nothing to consider on that, either.

This being quite plainly the law, what else could a committee of different sympathies have reported? The law is what it is; not what you wish it were. And the law is that Congress has no power under the Constitution to do any of the things, bills for which were before this committee.

PROFESSOR Luyten of Harvard has made some studies of the "nearest" stars, which will make your head swim. The "nearest" stars are those within ten "parsecs" or about 200,000,000,000 miles. Of the 10,000,000,000 stars in our universe, less than 200 are within this limit, of which the distances, motions and weights of 104 have been measured. Taking this nearest part as a sample of our universe, its space is about as full of stars as a small model would be in which there was a half-inch pebble once every thousand miles. Worlds like ours would be grains of sand, revolving about these pebbles. The most massive star is not over a thousand times heavier than the lightest, but the brightest star outshines the dimmest at least a billion times.

On this basis, our universe is best considered as a bubble of very rare gas, no denser than the vacuum inside an electric bulb, of which the suns with their worlds are the molecules. Figuring it by the laws of gases, there should be a collision between stars not oftener than once in 10,000,000,000 years.

And if you insist on knowing our place, we inhabit one electron of one of the 10,000,000,000 molecules of that gas bubble. At least a million other such bubbles are known. Which makes you dizzy, these figures, or the mind that could compute them?

MAGEE FREED OF KILLING ON INSTRUCTED VERDICT

Judge Grants Motion for Acquittal After Eight
Witnesses Testify

(By United Press)

LAS VEGAS, N. M., June 17.—Carl C. Magee, editor of the Albuquerque, N. M., State-Tribune, was acquitted on an instructed verdict here last night on charges of manslaughter, growing out of the fatal shooting of John Lasseter, in a Las Vegas hotel lobby, last August. Judge Luis Armijo, presiding, granted a motion of Magee's attorneys to instruct the jury to return a verdict of acquittal, after eight state witnesses had been examined.

No Criminal Responsibility

The court sustained the contention that no criminal responsibility had been established.

The charge against Magee grew out of an encounter with former Judge D. J. Leahy, who occupied the bench when Magee was given a jail term for his editorials. During the scuffle with Leahy, Magee fired in self-defense and killed Lasseter, a bystander.

Fred Wilson, attorney general of the state and one of Magee's lawyers, presented a motion for a directed verdict of not guilty when court convened last night.

Judge Grants Motion

It took less than 20 minutes argument on the motion by Wilson and District Attorney Chester A. Hunker before Judge Armijo announced that it was accepted.

Magee said he regretted that the defense evidence was not before the public. He said it would prove that repeated threats from Leahy justified him in being armed. He denied the testimony yesterday of Leahy that he invited the jurist to meet him "man to man" in personal combat, explaining that he would be willing to meet the jurist on equal footing in a lawsuit.

According to those who live near the scene of the explosion, a man ran from the building shortly before the blast and sped away in an automobile.

After the investigation, police arrested William Graham, proprietor of a candy shop in the wrecked building, on suspicion of dynamiting the structure. He was taken to Central police station for questioning.

Officers found 72 sticks of dynamite in Graham's establishment. Before his arrest, he told investigators that he heard someone moving around the building shortly before the blast.

ROGERS ELECTED HEAD OF ROTARY

DENVER, Colo., June 17.—Harry H. Rogers, cotton goods manufacturer, of San Antonio, Tex., was today elected president of Rotary International.

Diligent work as a member of the board brought Rogers the honor of heading the organization which has clubs in 25 nations of the world.

Rogers was declared president after Arthur H. Sapp, Huntington, Ind., withdrew.

In the first ballots cast, Rogers received the highest number of votes, Sapp was second, and Thomas J. Davis, Butte, Mont., third. Davis was automatically eliminated. Within an hour, Sapp withdrew and the convention unanimously declared Rogers president.

Nab Los Angeles Man As Fugitive

NEW YORK, June 17.—Legrand Howell, lumber merchant of Los Angeles, was arrested as a fugitive from justice here today at the request of William I. Traeger, sheriff of Los Angeles. Howell was indicted in Los Angeles, on a statutory charge.

Howell pleaded not guilty of being a fugitive from justice and was released under $1500 bail, pending arrival of extradition papers.

He was said to have booked passage on the Majestic, sailing on June 24 for Europe.

100,000 Citrus Trees Planted

VENTURA, June 17.—The greatest citrus tree planting program in the history of Ventura county was completed today, when the last of 100,000 trees that have been planted this season were embedded in the soil. The majority of the new trees are Valencia. The trees were all imported from the citrus belts of Southern California.

YOUNG WOMAN IS FOUND MURDERED

SEATTLE, June 17.—The body of Miss Sylvia Gaines, 22, brutally murdered, was found today on the shore of Green lake.

She was the daughter of Robert Gaines and a niece of County Commissioner William Gaines.

The identification was made several hours after the body was found by her invalid father, who collapsed at the coroner's morgue.

Beneath an apple tree, where she was usually tethered, lay the mare, choked to death from her rope following fright from a storm. Hanging to a limb of the same tree, was the body of Kawahara, who had followed his beloved animal in death.

Missouri Senator Bitter
In Examination of Washington Prohibition Head

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—Financial, political, judicial and legislative activities of the Anti-Saloon league were partially told to the senate primary investigating committee today by Wayne B. Wheeler, chief of the drys in Washington.

Under close examination by Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, leader and chairman of the investigating committee, Wheeler divulged:

The national organization gathered between $150,000 and $200,000 in 1925. State organizations raised their own sums individually and disbursed them.

In perhaps 100 court cases, the league has dug up facts for prosecuting authorities—chiefly to protect prohibition agents who they believed had been "framed."

Draws $8000 Annually

Wheeler's salary now is $8000 a year. His career as a Prohibitionist started in college in 1893, when he worked for expenses.

The examination raged in bitterness, if not in sensations, the examination of William J. Bryan, evangelist, by Clarence Darrow, in the Dayton evolution trial. It did not progress far enough to get into salient facts which Reed was seeking—questions of how much the drys spent in the Pennsylvania election.

Wheeler did not have a record of political activities of the league, but with the arrival of the nine visiting cardinals, including the papal legate, John Cardinal Bonzano, the festivities were informally inaugurated. Before the congress is ended, 1,000,000 pilgrims will have paid reverence to the Blessed Sacrament of the Eucharist.

Crowds Cheer Churchmen

The cardinal special, which bore the nine visiting cardinals from New York to Chicago, moved slowly down a lane of cheering thousands, some standing, others kneeling in reverence along the right-of-way.

The train came to a halt at 9:45 a. m., at an especially constructed platform along the shore of Lake Michigan.

Cardinal Bonzano, the highest Catholic dignitary ever to tread American soil, stood on the observation platform with a group of other cardinals bowing graciously to the huge throng that gathered about the train.

As the first cheer swept over the crowd which had assembled at every vantage point overlooking the tracks, steam whistles in the railroad yards, foghorns on the lake boats and chimes on all Catholic churches in the city started echoing the welcome of Chicago to the highest Catholic churchmen ever to visit the city.

Mundelein at Station

At the station, high churchmen, including George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, stood waiting for the arrival of the train. Some few were assembled at the especially built platform in the railroad yards, while others waited in a long line on a bridge overlooking the yards. When the luxurious red train was brought to a stop, a few churchmen, garbed in somber black, alighted and they were followed by the papal legate. His red robes gleamed through the mist and fog which hung threateningly over the city.

Brown reported the "bread and butter" speech of Mayor Kline, to the effect that Kline threatened to discharge city employees in Pittsburgh who failed to vote the Pro-Pepper-Fisher ticket.

Kline has sworn his speech was inaccurately reported and contended he did not intend any such threat.

Takes Stenographic Report

Resuming Brown's examination, Reed brought out that the reporter had taken down the mayor's speech stenographically.

"You reported his exact words?" asked Reed.

"Did any one ever question the accuracy of your report?" asked Senator King, of Utah.

"No sir."

"Did Kline or any Republican officials repudiate your publication of the speech?" Senator King asked.

"No, sir."

Brown said he had been a newsman in Pittsburgh since 1906. "Call Wayne B. Wheeler," Reed snapped.

Wheeler appeared.

Wheeler testified he had lived in Washington nine years and previously lived in Colorado and Cleveland and Brookfield.

He said he was 56 years old and received a salary of $668 a month. Wheeler began with the Anti-Saloon league in 1894, making speeches, he said. He is now general counsel of the league.

Salary Low at Start

During the first four or five years of his service, the people were not responsive and he did not get much salary, Wheeler said.

"All I got out of it was practically my expenses," Wheeler added.

Read traced every year in the early part of the dry leader's career.

When Reed pressed him, Wheeler said:

"I did not know I was to be here this morning until I read it in the papers. All I could say is from vague memory, I could not say definitely about my salary in the '90s and '80s until I looked up the record."

"Can you approximate your salary in 1897?" Reed asked. "If you can't give it definitely, just approximate it."

"Oh, about $2500 a year."

When Wheeler attempted to volunteer some information, Reed snapped:

Just Answer Questions

"Don't let's talk to much—you just answer the questions."

"I'll get my salary definitely for you," said Wheeler. "There's no secret about it."

When he went in as state superintendent of Ohio, in 1900 or 1901, he received, he thought, $4500.

"Did you collect that?" asked Read.

"Most of it, toward the end of the year in deficits."

"How long did you draw $4500?"

"I can't give you that without looking at the books."

"Can't you approximate it?"

"Oh about four or five years."

Then Wheeler interposed: "Your subpoena didn't indicate that you wanted these things or I would have looked them up."

"I was called here to Washington from Ohio about nine years ago," said the witness.

Not Man of Means

"Were you a man of means before you entered this business?"

"No."

"Have you defended men in murder cases?" Feed asked.

"Not that I recall."

"Didn't you interest yourself in some cases?"

"Well, when I thought some of the federal officers had been framed, I called the attention of the proper authorities."

"In other words, your organization passes on whether a man ought to be prosecuted or not?" asked Reed.

"Well, we investigate a case and if we think a man is guilty we do nothing, but if we think he is being framed we assist the officers."

Then Wheeler said: "When we think a clean officer is being framed we help him."

"Whom do you go to in these cases?"

Go to District Attorney

"Well, the federal officers defend federal officials. We go to the district attorney and lay the facts before him."

"When you make up your mind that a man has been framed, you act in his behalf? Now can't you answer that yes or no?" Reed asked.

"Well, I would say in a general way that is our policy."

"Have you ever used any money in these cases?"

"No."

FORMER PRESIDENT OF BANK ACQUITTED

FRESNO, June 17.—W. D. Mitchell, former president of the defunct Valley Bank of Fresno, was cleared today of felony charges, on which he has been brought to trial three times.

The jury in his third trial, after 50 minutes of deliberation, returned a verdict of acquittal late yesterday.

Mitchell was charged with having accepted a $5000 personal fee as inducement to authorize a $55,000 loan, while he held the presidency of the $12,000,000 bank.

Counsel for the stockholders of the Valley bank, who are suing the Pacific-Southwest bank and the Bank of Italy for alleged conspiracy in converting the Valley bank, declared last night that charges against Mitchell and other officials of the defunct institution were made to influence the suit.

The charges now have been proved groundless, he declared.

WILL DEPORT CONVICTS

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—The state board of prison directors has announced parole of 26 convicts, now in Folsom prison, to the U. S. immigration department for deportation. Nineteen will be returned to Mexico, two to Canada, two to Italy, and one each to Sweden, Greece and Switzerland.

Foreclosure of an $8000 mortgage against property near Placerville is asked in a suit filed in superior court today by John Michelson against Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Sawyer, of Anaheim. Attorneys Harvey and Harvey, Santa Ana, represent the plaintiff.

LONDON, June 17.—It seems probable that a readjustment of Parliamentary salaries will be made before the world comes to an end, which is more than certain disheartened members of the lower English house sometimes have hoped.

Ramsay Macdonald was the first recent years to call attention to the niggardly treatment of its legislators by the United Kingdom, and, indeed, the British empire as a whole, saying:

"The common history of all men of modest possessions in public life is a never-ending struggle with debt."

That made a profound impression at the time—the prime minister was prime minister.

New Scheme Worked Out.

It had been said before. Various schemes had been worked out. Now Major Leslie Hore-Belisha, an energetic member of the House of Commons, is trying to create a real movement in the direction of giving members of parliament enough to live on.

One of my first experiences in London, years ago, was when the wife of a member of parliament borrowed an umbrella and lost it. She confessed at once and declared that she would get the owner a new one.

But weeks passed before she produced the new umbrella and confessed she had nothing but her husband's pay as a member and out of that they had had to save the cost of that umbrella sixpence by sixpence.

Prime Minister's Pay Is Taxed

Major Hore-Belisha says that the United Kingdom pays its prime minister $2600 pounds ($17,500) per annum after it has taken from his salary the income tax which it automatically collects before intrusting him with the money, and he declares that it is impossible for any prime minister to keep up his position as is absolutely required and support a family on that even though he gets dingy old No. 10 Downing street free of rental to be used both as a residence and office.

"In quietude and retirement," says Major Hore-Belisha, "the sun would be respectable. But prime ministers are not expected to live in that way."

The present prime minister admits that he is living off his capital. Lloyd George left Downing street without ever having been able to save a cent out of his official income which, indeed, he had been compelled to over-spend. Probably he owed money when his term of office came abruptly to an end. Fortunately since then he has been able to make a handsome income out of writing.

"Well, we investigate a case and if we think a man is guilty we do nothing, but if we think he is being framed we assist the officers."

Husband Charges Wife Disregarded Her Marital Vows

S. P. Siersen, of Anaheim, today asked for a divorce from his wife, Maude F. Siersen, who, according to his complaint, was too well aware of her attractions for the opposite sex.

"I know I am attractive to men and I'm going to have a good time," Mrs. Siersen told her husband once, when he protested against the attentions she was receiving, he stated. His protests were of no avail and she finally went away with the other man last Monday, the divorce petition states.

Their four children are with the husband, in Anaheim.

The couple married in Hawarden, Ia., in 1903. Mrs. Siersen has disregarded her marital vows for the last 10 years, her husband charges.

Attorney Clay Carpenter, of Long Beach, is counsel for the plaintiff.

SEDAN POSSESSION BATTLED IN COURT

A legal battle over possession of a sedan, which was purchased in Yakima, Wn., and driven to Orange county, was under way today before Superior Judge E. J. Marks.

The Andrews Motor company, northern dealer, which sold the machine to R. H. DeLorm, who brought the car south, brought suit to recover it or get judgment for $800.

The dealer company claims that DeLorm violated the purchase agreement by failing to pay a portion of the down payment and by removing the car from Washington.

In his answer, DeLorm claims that there's but $314 due on the contract and he offers payment of that sum in court. Attorneys Head, Rutan and Stovall represent the plaintiff in the case, Attorney J. A. Gardiner appearing for DeLorm.

RECALL BRAVE ACT OF FRENCH ENSIGN

PARIS, June 17.—A recent list of nominations for knights of the legion of honor contained the name of Ensign Jean Antoine Roux, who was killed in 1807 while trying to open the sluice gates of the dry dock where the battleship Iena was on fire.

Continued explosions from the battleship put the arsenal and part of the city of Toulon in danger, and the only way to extinguish the fire was to flood the dock. The ensign was at work at this when he was cut in two by grape-shot from his own ship, that was shelling the sluice gates to open them.

Eventually a shell smashed open the gates and the Iena was flooded.

The dead numbered 110, and the injured many more.

Ensign Roux's bravery has not waited these 18 years to be recognized officially by the French government.

MOTOR OFFICER SURGEON HOLDS INSISTS MULE YOUTH MAY BE ENJOYS LAUGH MURDER VICTIM

Even a mule has a sense of humor, according to George Peterkin, state motorcycle officer. Peterkin doesn't talk mule language, or anything like that, but he does claim that when a mule says "hee-haw," that same mule is enjoying a laugh.

Peterkin found that a mule had a sense of humor yesterday, when he arrested John Anshondo, of 2015 East Twenty-fifth street, Los Angeles, on a charge of reckless driving. The mule was in a trailer, being hauled by the Anshondo machine, which had been traveling around corners, across intersections and over bumps while the driver's arm was encircling the waist of a pretty young girl, according to Peterkin.

The mule was a sadly buffeted animal and was thoroughly sick of the alleged "necking" going on in the car just ahead of him, according to Peterkin.

When Peterkin handed Anshondo a ticket, charging him with reckless driving, the mule gave voice to a loud and pleased "hee-haw." Anshondo will appear before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison on June 25.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—A skilled autopsy surgeon has found evidence of murder on the gaunt skeleton of Harry Mahoney, Hollister school boy.

Acting unofficially in an advisory capacity to grief-stricken parents, who refused to believe, with a Sonoma coroner's jury, that the lad's death was accidental and due to "causes unknown," Dr. Selby Strange, autopsy surgeon, of San Francisco county, made a minute inspection of the boy's body, brought here from Sonoma.

A small incision in the right shoulder blade, reported to have been located while the body lay at Sonoma, was found and verified by the autopsy surgeon. Its nature indicated that it might have been made by either a knife or a small bullet, more likely by the former, the surgeon announced.

"This wound would have caused death," said Dr. Strange.

"The sub-clavian artery, running along the shoulder to the neck, lies right beneath the point in the shoulder blade where the hole appears. A knife point, severing this artery, would undoubtedly cause quick death," he told the United Press.

No other evidence of foul play was found, Dr. Strange said. Numbers of discharged cartridges, with one discharged rifle cartridge, taken from the boy's hunting belt, were not considered of significance. Shreds of clothing removed from the boy's skeleton were to be taken to the county chemist for analysis to determine possible presence of blood-stains, Dr. Strange said.

Further investigation of the circumstances surrounding the mysterious death rests with the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Mahoney, Dr. Strange said.

Mahoney's body was discovered last week in the mountains of Tuolumne county, after a search which began with the boy's disappearance on a hunting jaunt last December.

Mrs. Alex P. Nelson of this city, who has been re-elected as president of the Orange County Federation of Women's club for the ensuing year, has announced her appointive officers and department chairmen as follows:

Parliamentarian, Mrs. Alfred H. Halleck, Orange; American citizenship, Mrs. C. G. Huston, Costa Mesa; community service, Mrs. J. E. Hunt, Santa Ana; co-operation with war veterans, Mrs. Nellie Terrell, Anaheim; education, Miss Kate Rea, Anaheim; California history and landmarks, Mrs. Victor Montgomery, Santa Ana; information and library service, Mrs. M. J. Marks, Santa Ana; motion pictures, Mrs. Edna Downs, Huntington Beach; conservation, Mrs. George Martin, Los Alamitos; birds and wild life, not filled; arts and crafts, Mrs. Jack Olivari, Santa Ana; legislation, Mrs. Mary Davis, La Habra; press and publicity, Mrs. Olive Lopez, Santa Ana; circulation manager, Federation News, Mrs. Arthur H. T. Osborne, Fullerton; child welfare, Mrs. E. C. Kirby, Placentia; industrial and social conditions, Mrs. C. C. Violett, Garden Grove; institutional relations, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Santa Ana; public health, Mrs. T. L. McCaffery, Placentia; juvenile court, Mrs. Burt Vorce, Seal Beach; Indian welfare, Mrs. A. Clayton, Brea; international relations, Mrs. Sullivan, Placentia; literature, Mrs. H. H. Benjamin, Anaheim.

Mrs. Walter Moore, president in her capable manner and the routine opening exercises of the club were followed, with Mrs. M. C. Williams leading in the collect. A number of interesting matters were discussed in the business session preceding the program, among them plans for the annual picnic which were perfected. This will be held June 29 at Hewes park and members will meet at the Unitarian church at 10:30 a. m. in readiness to go in the automobiles that will be provided different members are placing their cars at the disposal of the transportation committee and there will be room for all.

New year books were distributed and the club members declared them to be unusually attractive both in appearance and contents, and the outline of the year's work, one of much promise.

The afternoon's program was devoted to book reviews and the two books chosen reflected two widely varying phases of ultra-modern life. College life as depicted in "Giltter" by Katherine Brush, was the theme of the review of that book given by Mrs. Lovisa Leslie while Mrs. C. T. Wells reviewed "The Keeper of the Bees," Gene Stratton Porter's last book. Roll call was in keeping with the program as each member responded with a quotation from her favorite author.

Following the program session, Mrs. Jack Taylor, chairman of the courtesy committee, in a very friendly little talk, presented the retiring president, Mrs. Moore, with a set of beautiful cut-glass sherbet cups as the gift of the club in appreciation of her year of excellent work. Mrs. Moore made an appreciative response which included her pleasure in many clusters of flowers from individual members and a lovely French bouquet fashioned by the clever hands of Mrs. James Clark. A similar bouquet was presented Mrs. W. S. Chandler, next year's president. Indeed the affair took on the semblance of a flower show, since Mrs. G. B. Lamme, after complimenting Mrs. F. A. Marks upon her long years of service as parliamentarian, a place which the latter felt she must resign this year, said that it was easier to say such things with flowers, and then presented the surprised member with a handsome flower basket. Immediately others stepped forward with flowers for the basket until Mrs. Marks was quite surrounded with the tributes of her friends, which included an exquisite French bouquet from Mrs. Frank Ely.

This happy period was followed by a general mingling and good time during which Mrs. Littrell, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Tompkins, chairman of the refreshment committee, Mrs. Ella Webster and Mrs. Hohen, served tea and wafers.

"Newcom sells Cyanogen Dust."

One of the delightful incidents connected with the eastern trip of Maurice Phillips, was the reception accorded him by former musical associates in his home county, Berkshire, Mass., while he was a guest in North Adams.

When it was learned that he had arrived for his long-anticipated visit, a party of fifteen of the most prominent musical folk of the county, gathered to banquet in the Sweetheart Tea Room in Shelburne Falls, with the popular Santa Anna vocalist as guest of honor.

Following the dinner, one of the number, James Morely Chambers, took his place at the piano and led in an evening of rare enjoyment. Nearly every man in the party was a vocalist, and especially prominent EVEN million people—and not a home to be found! Such was the succulent manner in which her impressions of New York City were summed up by Mrs. D. Eyman Huff who on Tuesday reached her home at Hewes ranch from an extended visit in the eastern metropolis with her son, Chauncey Huff and his bride of a year.

Mrs. Huff left California in April and was in the east during the warm spring and early summer season, yet declared that California seemed a cool and greenly lovely paradise in comparison with the best the east had to offer. "I dislike to speak so enthusiastically," she said smilingly, "for you see everywhere I went in the east, I heard 'Oh if we but had some of your California booster spirit,' and that grew monotonous, for they don't realize that boosting as it is known in California, is done almost entirely by the easterner that comes here, and not by the Californians of long standing or by birth."

"Just the same, there was nothing so beautiful to be seen anywhere in the east. Nowhere was there the sense of space and of prosperity." Questioned as to the Sesqui-Centennial in Philadelphia, she said that a revival of interest was shown in the last few weeks and that when she was in the Quaker City, everything was a stir and bustle of preparation, seemingly at variance with the well-known characteristics of the city and her inhabitants.

Overcoming civic traits is one of the problems to be solved, are the mammoth exposition may achieve success, is the opinion expressed by the observant Californian, so accustomed to the western enthusiasm which hastens such affairs through to a successful climax.

The Santa Ana Register was a welcomed friend during her absence as her son has been followed by the home paper ever since his departure three years ago for the east in the interest of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, to take the position of New York sales manager. She related with much amusement, the statement of Mrs. Huff Jr., that his two enthusiasms in life were the Register and radio broadcasting. His talks over a New York radio on the work of the fruit exchange, are an established feature of air programs and not only yield him keen interest but are valuable in acquainting easterners with details of California fruit growing and marketing.

Not only on our transcontinental trips but in short journeys from New York, Mrs. Huff contrived to visit all the larger cities and other points of interest. She went east by the southern route and returned through the Canadian Rockies, stopping at different points including Banff and Seattle.

Last Sunday, Mr. Phillips sang at the morning services of the First Congregational church of North Adams, where he was soloist prior to his coming to California. His number was the bass solo, "Consider and Hear Me," by Wooler.

were the Santa Anan and Royal F. Dadman of New York city, each of whom sang solo numbers as did many others. An account of the gathering, published in the press of the city, stated that so remarkable were the waves of harmony emanating from the tea room, that the street in front of the building was blocked by the cars of passers-by, stopping to listen.

OPPOSITION TO REGULATION OF MARRIAGE BY REQUIRING PHYSICAL TESTS IS FOUND

Toasts to the success of the coming year as "the greatest year" in the Santa Ana junior college resounded in the halls of the Women's clubhouse, Orange, last night, when the annual junior college banquet was held.

"Activities" of the last year were given toasts. Henrik Van Rensselaer, president-elect of the college student body, presided. The banquet was the last social event of the year. Seventy students and faculty members attended.

Seeds College Growth
Principal D. K. Hammond, in talking to the students, foresaw the time when the junior college, because of growth, would be transferred to a separate campus.

The Santa Ana board of education is planning for the junior college in Santa Ana," Hammond said. "There seems to be no prospect of a union county college. Although Santa Ana has attempted to be unselfish and not monopolize the field, this action has been forced upon her."

Next year, the junior college will be in the east building on the high school campus, Hammond declared. The building will be known as the "junior college building." By designating a separate building for the college, more satisfactory relations will be possible, it was believed.

Hammond predicted a greatly increased enrollment for next year. Additional courses will make it possible to offer two full years' accredited work in many fields that hitherto have been limited to one year.

Benefits Are Realized

Principal Hammond, giving the first toast on "activities," said that benefits gained from training in activities was a point that fully was realized in the Santa Ana junior college.

"Every student has the opportunity to enter into some activity in the Santa Ana junior college," Hammond said. Latent talents are in this way, developed.

Toasts were given to scholarship, by Lyle Cook; to publications, by Robert O'Brien; to social life, by Miss Jennie B. Lasby; to athletics, by George Broomell; to dramatics, by Miss Portia Friedenbloom; to debate and oratory, Maynard Rognan, and to organizations, J. Russell Bruff.

A musical entertainment was presented between courses at the banquet. Bob Thompson played several piano numbers. Charles Haas sang, accompanied on the piano by Miss Helen Joy Smith. Readings were given by Miss Thelma Duggan.

JEWELRY VALUED AT MORE THAN MILLION

NEW YORK, June 17.—How the building of lines of steel can bring into existence the most remarkable collection of jewelry in America, with a value of more than a million dollars, has been revealed here in the appraisal of Mrs. Arabella D. Huntington's estate.

She was the widow of Collis P. Huntington, railroad builder, and subsequently the wife of his nephew.

Her estate is estimated at $35,000,000. There are ropes of Oriental pearls, long chains of brilliant diamonds, gold and platinum necklaces and carved emerald beads listed in the inventories. All in all they reveal that Mrs. Huntington's collection of jewelry is worth $1,274,904, even exceeding that of the late Mrs. William Astor.

Objects of art, priceless paintings by old masters, medieval tapestries, a Gobelin and rare etchings and engravings without end were also among the railroad builder's widow's possessions.

The report shows that Archer Huntington, her son, will receive about $30,000,000.

GRANT APPLICATION FOR RIVER WATER

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—Application of the East Bay utility district to divert 375 second feet of water from the Mokelumne river for power development at its Lancha Plana dam, was granted by the state division of water rights yesterday.

The filling was made in connection with a previous application of the district, granted April 17, to divert 310 cubic feet of water per second from the Mokelumne for municipal uses in the east bay region.

The district is authorized by the division to store 217,000 acre feet per annum in connection with its project.

The permit approved today will permit, under a head of 325 feet the development of 13,849 theoretical horsepower, which will be applied "to necessary pumping for the East Bay municipal utility district and uses within the said district for the inhabitants thereof."

While the principle of eugenics undoubtedly would be successfully defended before a body of learned professors interested in the improvement of the human species, its practical application to marriage in everyday life, if suggested by some well meaning reformer, would meet with decided opposition in Santa Ana. And some of the strongest opponents would come from a class of people that is generally identified with reforms relating to human conduct.

Such an attitude is indicated in comment by various citizens on laws enacted in various states and recently in the federal District of Mexico City, requiring certificates of health from both principals before a wedding.

While a number of citizens prominent in the affairs of the city, did not care to be quoted for publication, they intimated plainly their opposition to legislation which would make the health authorities an interested party to the marriage ceremony.

Questions Beneficial Results
The Rev. Moffett Rhodes, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, while admitting that much can be said both for and against the principle of eugenics in marriage, questioned its beneficial results except in pronounced cases of mental and so-called "social diseases" where marriage should be prohibited.

He also ventured the belief that legislation of this sort would not only create embarrassing situations and furnish an opportunity for official abuse and spite work. There are reasons to believe, the minister added, that legislation of a prohibitory nature would tend to increase of unions not blessed by the church nor having the sanction of civil authority.

Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, favored reasonable legislation that would prevent marriages of persons suffering from illnesses that may be transferred to children. He called attention to the fact that today there are thousands of innocent children, the victims of errors by fathers and mothers. To avoid abuse of authority as well as to eliminate embarrassing situations, the issuance of a health certificate should be a matter between the person contemplating marriage and his family physician, or between other private physician, Dr. Presson remarked.

Statement By Smedley
Among those who believe a man should be physically fit for marriage, is Ralph C. Smedley, general secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A.

He says: "Better control of marriage is very greatly needed in the United States. I am very doubtful, however, about any regulations being made successful so long as they are operative merely in the individual states. It will require national action to make control of marriage effective."

I believe thoroughly that some evidence of physical fitness should be required from candidates for marriage. The marriage of the unfit is responsible for a very large part of our social problems of today. There are a great many people who should never be permitted to marry and reproduce their kind, for the protection of society. Just how this regulation is to be made effective is a great problem, and the solution has probably not been found as yet.

"A very simple regulation, which seems both practical and reasonable, and which could be made effective in stopping many ill-advised marriages, is the revival of the old-fashioned custom of publishing the 'banns'. It should not work any great hardship on young people to be required to announce their intention of getting married a few days in advance. And yet such a requirement would undoubtedly stop a considerable number of marriages which now take place."

"As it is, the county clerk has to issue the marriage license on demand to anyone who is not obviously and unmistakably objectionable, and he has no available means of holding up the license unless suspicious circumstances are evident sufficient to justify him in this procedure. If the law authorized him to withhold the license for a certain number of days after application is made, and at the same time to publish the application, I believe the results would be extremely valuable."

"I do not know enough about Mexico to be able to make a guess as to the value of the proposed regulation there, but I wish that our nation would not be the last to undertake to apply some of our knowledge of eugenics to the solution of our own problems."

Liquor Dealers In Germany Hope For U. S. Business

BERLIN, June 17.—German wine and liquor dealers are still optimistic when it comes to believing that the Volstead act in the United States will be repealed. Virtually every dealer is ready to resume intensive business relations with American purchasers of wet goods.

SCHALL MAKES BITTER ATTACK UPON ACCUSER

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The senate was thrown into an uproar yesterday when the blind senator, Schall, Republican, Minnesota, had a statement read by the clerk, assailing in unparliamentary language his accuser in the recent election contest against him.

Senator Robinson, Democratic floor leader, and Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, attempted to have Schall retract his statement, which accused those connected with the contest brought by former Senator Magnus Johnson as "crooks, perjurers, assassins of character, skunks and philanderers."

Schall had just been awarded the seat by the senate.

The blind leader resented the suggestion that he withdraw his remarks, and shouting loudly, said:

"It is an outrage that I can't have three or four minutes to answer these charges. You want me to lie down in front of men who have called me on the witness stand."

Ashurst told Schall that the virtue of victory was magnanimity and that, in years to come, Schall would regret placing in the senate records his unusual language against his accusers.

Foie-Gras Sold In France Like Peanuts In U. S.

STRASBOURG, France, June 17.—Pate-de-foie-gras, the gourmet's delight, is almost as commonplace in its home town as ham and eggs in America. This delicate dish is one of the things that has made Strasbourg cooking famous, and the good Strasbourg eat it at meals, after meals and between meals.

Pate-de-foie-gras, washed down with a draught of the famous Alsation beer, is a favorite tea-time dish. Innumerable old women go from cafe to cafe peddling the delicacy, slices of which are cut from a big "pate" carried in a basket. It is sold like peanuts and chocolate in America.

FATHER'S DAY
SUNDAY, JUNE 20We Always Did Think That Fathers Amounted to Something

Now that Father has a day, he is, at least, as important as the dog, for "every dog has his day."

And when father steps out in that new suit we made for him, there will be ohs and ahs aplenty. A tailored suit is that way distinguished. This thing of having to press a suit back into shape all the time is gone when clothes are tailored to your own measure. Besides the feel, the wear is there. Economy in tailored clothes is built in.

We could say—"ask the man who wears them."

ORANGE COUNTY
SECOND HIGH IN
BEAN ACREAGE*COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES TO BE FAREWELL EXPRESSION OF 193 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS

Farewell will be said to the halls and classrooms of Santa Ana polytechnic high school by the 193 graduates of the 1926 class when commencement exercises are held tomorrow night in the high school auditorium.

R. L. Churchill, manager of the California Lima Bean Growers' association, reports that a tabulation of the preliminary checking of acreage, just completed by the association, shows the total California plantings this season to regular limas to be about 95,000 acres. The counties having the largest acreage are Ventura county, with more than 50,000 acres, and Orange county, with about 28,000 acres.

The King City district has the smallest, with barely 550 acres, and the Los Angeles county coast district, around 1200 acres.

Baby limas are scattered over a much larger area than regulars and total about 35,000 acres. Of this total, San Fernando valley stands first, with about 13,000 acres, while the next largest, the Lompoc and Modesto districts, will, together, total more than 14,000 acres.

Churchill declares that the stands of plants secured are generally good and that growers report fine growth and excellent soil moisture. It is too early to forecast the crop production with any accuracy, since the weather prevailing during July and August largely will determine high school course.

Twenty-two students received permanent membership in the Santa Ana chapter of the California Scholarship federation.

Seven students were awarded special recognition in scholarship and citizenship. They were Ella Armstrong, Maxaline Armstrong, Lohr Bauer, Lois Green, Hazel Hilgers, Elizabeth Heemstra and Evelyn Yount.

IDEAS and Ideals

A. V. NAPIER

Perhaps the greatest opportunity Orange county will ever have to sell itself to the world at large, will present itself during the week of June 29, when members of the National Editorial association will be the guests of the county. At that time, editors from every state in the nation will come trooping in. The editors will represent every great newspaper in the United States. They will represent the "old home papers" of something like 50 per cent of the present population of California. They will come from virtually every city and town of importance east of the coast range.

Every blessed one of those editors will send back a series of articles covering the trip and a special article about Orange county. Just what they say about Orange county will depend much upon the deportment of the local citizens. Much of undesirable character has been written by eastern newspaper writers about California. Most of this unfavorable matter has been given to the newspapers by people who, in isolated cases, have met with disappointment in the state, or by some person who expected to find effortless success. The average editor is honestly inclined. The average editor is an affirmative, and not a negative element. Almost any editor will boast for anything he is convinced deserves boasting, and he will print the truth as he understands it.

The general entertainment of the National Editorial association in Orange county is in the hands of a competent committee. No important point touching upon the general desirability of living in Orange county will be overlooked by the committee. But the committee will waste much of its effort, unless it is supported by citizens generally. These editors will be wanting a great amount of information regarding the little things that cannot be handled by any committee. Bits of information will be requested from men on the streets and in hotels. Some of the editors will want information they have heard in a general way verified by a local resident. It is the hope of the committee in charge of these editors that all information given out by private citizens will be absolutely accurate. It is pointed out that nothing will more quickly give stranger an unfavorable impression than to receive a variety of answers to one question. It is suggested that if one is not sure he can give a correct answer, he should direct the inquiry to some authority on the subject.

It was said today that the keynote of National Editorial association week, so far as California people can make it so, will be "courtesy." It is reasonable to expect that the editors of the nation will make a favorable report on Orange county if they find that the people fortunate enough to live here are willing and anxious to share their pleasure with a stranger. The spirit of the "old west" in the things these visiting editors will expect to find in California, and, if they are not disappointed, they will give California in return publicity that could not be bought with all the money that reposes in the national mints.

Make up your party and call 626 for reservations on Friday. $1.50 dinner for $1.00.

EXPANSION OF WATER SYSTEM SHOWS GROWTH OF COMMUNITY

220 Residences Erected in Tustin During Past Two Years, Survey Reveals

New Structure Finished at $30,000 Expenditure;
Grape Plant Is Busy

Tustin, one of the most beautiful and fertile sections in Orange county, a suburb of Santa Ana and a town of beautiful homes and buildings, is rapidly becoming one of the most popular residential districts in Orange county.

Situated in the midst of orange, lemon, walnut, avocado and apricot groves, Tustin is declared an ideal location for the business man seeking a spacious country home. Well-to-do business men of Santa Ana and numerous other cities throughout Southern California have realized the many advantages offered in Tustin and during the past two years, more building has been done in the little town than during any similar period in the history of the community.

Homes Built for Comfort

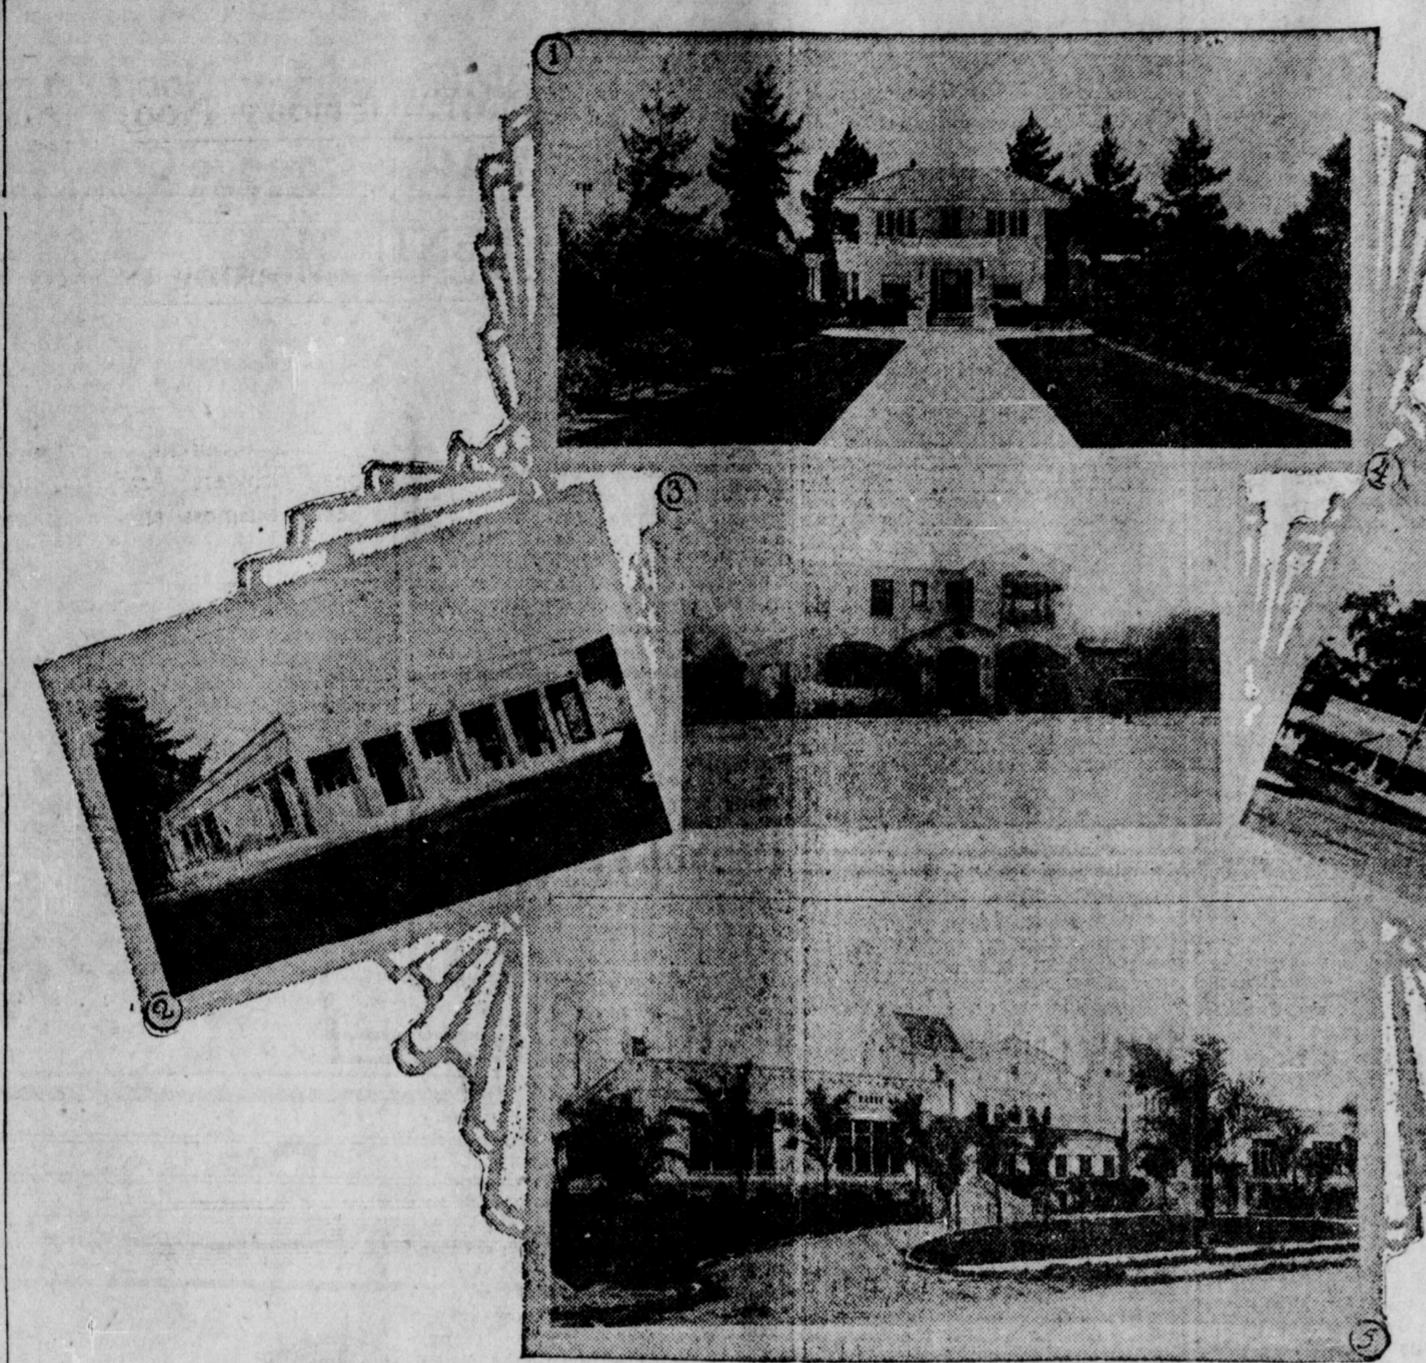

Homes in Tustin are not of the usual type. They are spacious and designed for comfort and beauty and expense has not been spared. It is estimated that the average cost of homes in this little community of Orange county is higher than in any other community in the county.

According to a recent survey, approximately 170 new houses have been built on 11 subdivisions which have been opened in the city during the past two years, and more than 50 other homes have been constructed on ranches by persons who have purchased orange and walnut groves.

Rapid System Expands

Rapid has been the growth of the town that it has been necessary to drill a new water well and construct two reservoirs. One of the tanks is now in use and the other, a 1,200,000 gallon affair, is under construction on Red hill. Two years ago, a small wooden tank was the only water storage boasted by the city. With the opening of the subdivisions, water became an imperative need. Several miles of new water mains were laid in the town and the water system was improved in other ways. The new reservoir now nearing completion at Red Hill is situated 175 feet higher than the town of Tustin and will provide the residents of the town with a high pressure gravity water system. Extensions have been made in the water mains on West Main street, Newport road, Bonita avenue and Santa Clara avenue during the past week. The large tank on Red hill is 100 feet in diameter and 20 feet deep. It will be completed and placed in use about

Dr. Carroll Aronovici, Berkeley lecturer with the University of California; Hugh R. Pomeroy, Los Angeles, secretary of the Los Angeles county regional planning commission; A. E. Williamson, Los Angeles zoning engineer and Frank C. Nye, president of the Riverside Realty Board, will be among the city planning experts present at the conference called by the Santa Ana Realty Board for Friday noon at St. Ann's Inn, it was announced today by President Jack Wallace.

Preparations are being made to accommodate several hundred interested persons, according to Wallace, who states that the luncheon and meeting is open to all who care to attend. Those planning to be present at the luncheon should make reservations at once, he says.

Dr. Aronovici, Mr. Pomeroy, Mr. Williamson and Mr. Nye were the chief speakers at the first annual state-wide city planning conference held in Los Angeles in April under the auspices of the California

Real Estate association. Pomeroy is well known in Orange county, having made a number of speeches in this section. His last talk in this county was made recently at Laguna Beach.

Practically every city official in Orange county is expected to attend the conference, according to Wallace, who has been busy this week making trips throughout the county for the purpose of extending invitations to the gathering.

ATTORNEY GETS QUICK APPRAISAL

Air mail and the appraisal committee of the Santa Ana Realty Board offered a combination that made it possible for Francis Bertram Elias, New York, attorney, to get a quick and dependable appraisal on a piece of property at Balboa. It was disclosed today by Harry Bladen, secretary of the board.

The property, it appears, was a gift to Matilda J. Macculloch, a client of the attorney, and it was necessary to file in New York at once an appraised value. Elias wrote the board here asking for a valuation.

The appraisal was made and certified to by the committee, Carl Mock, Stanley E. Goode and Frank McCarter, and forwarded by air mail.

In remitting a check for $25 for the services rendered, the attorney took occasion to express his appreciation of the prompt and satisfactory attention given his request for information on the value of the Balboa realty.

May Frank Purinton today had filed with the board an application for an appraisal of properties owned by the city, the city council recently having made plans for compiling a record of city owned property.

City to Be Headquarters

A. B. Watson to Retire

That the Motor Transit company is preparing to institute a modern stage depot in Santa Ana, in connection with a hotel, was revealed here today with announcement by Carl Mock, Stanley Goode and J. C. Wallace, realtors, that they had completed negotiations for sale to the Motor Transit company of the Meyer hotel property on the northwest corner of Third and Spurgeon streets and a 25-foot lot on Third street adjoining the hotel site. The hotel property was sold by H. D. Meyer and the vacant lot was sold by Aaron Buchheim, of San Juan Capistrano.

The sales price of the properties was not made public, but it was announced by the realtors that when the stage company has made alterations in the hotel building and added a garage on the vacant lot, it will have an investment approximating $200,000.

Incidentally, C. O. Fuller, owner of the Motor Transit, announced that headquarters for operation of the motor line in Orange county would be located in this city.

Plan Store Rooms
Plans of Motor Transit contemplate remodeling of the corner ground floor store rooms of the hotel into modern and fully equipped stage offices and depot. The hotel will not be operated by the company, but will be leased to parties who will specialize in the matter of accommodations for patrons of the stage line.

The piece of land acquired from Meyer has a frontage of 120 feet on Spurgeon and depth of 125 along Third street. By utilizing the unimproved portion of the lot in combination with the purchase from Buchheim, the company will be in position to erect a one-story garage $85x120 feet.

Work Starts at Once
The work of remodeling and building will start at once, according to the realtors, and the new quarters will be ready for occupancy by July 15, it was stated.

Consummation of the transaction, and final completion of the plans of the stage company, means that the activities of all motor lines operating in and through Santa Ana will be centralized at the corner of Third and Spurgeon streets.

Will Abandon Old Depots

Abandonment of the present depots of the Pickwick line on the southwest corner of Fifth and Bush streets and the Crown Stage on the northwest corner of Fifth and Bush will follow completion of the new depot.

August 1 will see the retirement from the stage line business of A. B. Watson, pioneer stage operator of Santa Ana. On that date,

S. A. VOCALIST IS HONORED ON EASTERN VISIT

Maurice Phillips, Santa Ana singer, who went east recently with the Shriners, was tendered a reception by friends in his former home in Berkshire county, Mass. The following article, concerning the gathering in Phillips' honor, appeared in the North Adams Evening Transcript in the issue of June 10:

"A party of 15 of the most prominent singers and musicians of Berkshire county gathered last evening in the Sweetheart Tea room, in Shelburne Falls, in honor of Maurice Phillips, of Santa Ana, Calif., former resident of this city, a singer of repute.

"In the gathering, besides Phillips, were Royal F. Dadmun, of New York; James C. Morton, of Pittsfield; George Phillips of Williamstown; James Morley, Chambers; John Archer, of Providence, R. I.; Fred Herbert, Richard Davies, Edward Hughes, Thomas G. Lloyd, Robert Bevan, Ernest Phillips, Fred Reagan and George M. Chase.

"Following a repast, Chambers took his place at the piano and there followed an evening of rare entertainment. Nearly every man in the party is a vocalist, Maurice Phillips and Mr. Dadmun having a reputation almost national in scope and the harmony they produced was remarkable, the road in front of the building being almost blocked by cars, the occupants of which stopped to listen.

Solos were sung by nearly all and when the chorus struck the old-time Welsh hymn, "All Hall the Power of Jesus' Name," the rafters of the place faintly trembled. It is doubtful if a more noted group of singers every gathered in this section.

"Phillips was more than pleased with his reception and said he would carry to the end of his life the memory of the tribute paid him by his friends of Berkshire county."

Stage and Screen

PRINCESS THEATER

Hoot Gibson comes to the front again in "The Arizona Sweepstakes," a picture to be shown in the Princess theater commencing tomorrow. There is a new angle to this latest Gibson picture which the hard-riding Hoot is first seen caught in the labyrinths of a great city's underworld before he finally gets back to his native stamping-ground—the free and unbound plains of the West. Romance runs rampant.

YOST THEATER

Say what you will, Adolphe Menjou in his latest picture, "A Social Celebrity," which arrives at the Yost tonight, has a mighty fine supporting cast.

Chester Conklin, that gifted comedian and character actor, is seen as the star's father, an old barber, whose hopes and ambitions are all founded in his son, Louise Brooks, a little girl who suddenly sprang into fame through her dancing in the stage production of "Louie the 14th," and who was awarded a role in "The American Venus," has the second featured role. Miss Brooks is the little manicurist with whom Menjou is in love, but who later becomes a musical comedy star.

The star is seen as a small town barber who goes to New York, and, after many thrills, tribulations and funny adventures, finally achieves his dreams—a magnificent beauty parlor.

Also included in the cast are Josephine Drake, formerly a stage player of leading roles, Elsie Lawren, who appeared in "Dancing Mothers," Freeman Wood, Roger Davis and Hugh Huntley.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER
Variety is the keynote of the Association vaudeville bill coming to the Yost Broadway theater tonight, with every one of the five acts novel in character.

Topping the program is DeWitt Burns and Torrence's offering, "The Awakening of Toys," a fantastic arrangement of mechanical toy characters in the land of make-believe. In the act, dolls dance, a wooden soldier marches and big giant comes and eats up all the little animals, including Teddy Bear.

"The Kill Kare Couple," John and Winnie Hennings, are to be heard in an eccentric musical song, dance and talking act. Miss Hennings with a cornet, and Mr. Hennings with a trombone invariably stir up gales of merriment. The Tri-State Four, billed as "monarchs of mirth and melody," will entertain with an assortment of songs numbers of the latest vintage.

Charles and Grace Keating in their act, "Their First Love," present a skillful blend of humor and pathos. Charles Keating in the character of the Huckleberry Finn type of boy, creates much merriment in his characterization. His partner is an able assistant.

Dexterity, versatility and ability are the outstanding features of the offering presented by Miss Della O'Dell, "The Little Lady with the Samson-Like Strength," who handles the largest sized objects with ease.

"Ranson's Folly," a picture featuring Richard Barthelmess, is the Yost Broadway's screen offering Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

CONFERENCE OF EMPLOYERS TO BE HELD HERE

Santa Ana will be the meeting place, Tuesday, June 22, of the Southern California Employers' conference. Approximately 60 employers from various parts of the Southland are expected to attend this meeting, which will be the first since the conference was organized in Long Beach, on April 2.

The conference has for its purpose the perpetuation of the American plan, open-shop principle in industry. The meeting in Santa Ana will open at 10 o'clock in the morning and will end with a dinner at 6:30 p. m., in St. Ann's Inn, where all sessions will be held.

According to those who attended the first meeting, it was the expressed opinion of those present that it was well worth while and that future meetings of the same kind would be extremely helpful in solving industrial problems that confront the towns and communities of Southern California.

A constitution and by-laws to govern the conference, now assured of permanency, have been prepared by a committee consisting of H. M. Halderman, John E. Coffin, Harry Chandler, all of Los Angeles; George S. Parker, San Diego; Watt L. Moreland, Burbank; Roy L. Kent, Glendale; W. D. Raney, Santa Ana; C. W. Pinkerton, Whittier; W. T. Brown, Fullerton; A. W. Mills, San Pedro; S. Hazard Halsted, Pasadena; F. Von Schlesig, Long Beach. The documents will be laid before the conference.

In a statement of purposes, the conference declared:

"The prosperity of Southern California has been built up under open-shop conditions and we believe that maintenance of such conditions in all the communities offers the greatest possibility for the prosperity and progress of the future."

"We know of no city or industry dominated by the closed shop in which the results for the investor, the public or the employer and employees are satisfactory or compare favorably with conditions in cities or industries where the open-shop principle prevails."

"We believe the best interests of Southern California will be promoted by the organization of an open-shop association, in which every city and community is represented."

MOTOR TRANSIT PLANS NEW DEPOT

the present Crown Stage lines to the beaches and to Riverside and Pomona will be turned over to the Motor Transit company, this being one of the considerations in the big merger of stage lines made recently.

When Watson sold his Los Angeles line to the Pickwick stages two years ago for $110,000, he reserved his beach and interior lines to Riverside and Pomona. Recently, he disposed of these routes to the Pickwick for $230,000, and now the Pickwick is turning the group over to the Motor Transit.

Watson to Travel

Watson started his operations here in September, 1914, with three Ford touring cars, his first line being to Anaheim. Later, he instituted services to Long Beach, Laguna Beach, Pomona and Riverside and in 1919, acquired a franchise for operation of bus service to Los Angeles.

Watson has made a big success of the stage operations and today was preparing to retire from active business life for a time and enjoy the fruits of his hard labor of the past 12 years. He said today that he had no plans for the future beyond the building of an ideal camp wagon in which he and Mrs. Watson would make an extended tour.

EXPANSION OF WATER SYSTEM SHOWS GROWTH

the middle of August, according to reports.

600 Homes Served

Another important indication of the growth of the town is the increase in the number of homes served with water at the present time, in comparison with the number served a year ago. Today, approximately 600 homes are served by the water system. One year ago about 500 homes were served by the water company. Two years ago, about 400 subscribers were receiving water.

The average cost of homes in the Tustin district is estimated by a number of builders and contractors as being about $4500. Many homes erected in the district during the past two years have cost as high as $30,000. A number of houses range around $10,000 and $12,000 in cost, while the major portion of homes average about $5000 with a few cheaper homes bringing the average cost down.

Business Blocks ERECTED

While subdivisions in almost every section of the town have caused a rapid growth in the city, home building has not been the only form of growth experienced by the city.

Additions have been made to schools costing more than $60,000. Business buildings have been erected which cost more than $200,000 and other buildings which will cost more than $50,000 are under consideration by the Tustin estate, according to reports.

STRUCTURE COSTS $30,000

The latest addition to the business section of the city is the new store and business building erected on the southeast corner of Main and D streets by the Tustin estate. This business block takes the place of some of the oldest buildings in Tustin. It was erected by Ed Kiser, local contractor, at a cost of approximately $60,000.

OTHER BUSINESS BUILDINGS

Other business buildings erected during the past few months include a garage and implement shop on First street, additions to the Utte Grape Juice company's plant on E street and a new bakery building on Main street between D and E streets. Additions costing nearly $60,000 have been made to the local high school to care for increased enrollment. Additions have also been made to the local grammar school costing several thousand dollars.

GRAPES PLANT ACTIVE

The Utte plant makes Royal Isabella grape juice. The factory will ship more than 50,000 gallons of grape juice to various parts of the world this year and will double that amount next year, according to reports. Shipments are made regularly to all parts of the United States and to Puerto Rico. Several shipments of grape juice have also been made to London.

Orange growers in the Tustin district each year receive thousands of dollars from the orange crops and walnut growers of the district also receive bounteous returns from their crops. Truck farmers and gardeners also find that tilling the fertile soil in the Tustin district is remunerative.

ORANGES SUPPLANT APRICOTS

Apricots, once one of the most important products of the Tustin section, are now almost a novelty. Oranges have taken the place of most of the apricot orchards. Persimmons and avocados are also popular products of the district.

Three large citrus houses care for the citrus products in the Tustin district and each year these houses pay to the growers more than $6,000.

Improvements scheduled for the next few months will be made chiefly by the Tustin estate, owned by Samuel Tustin and Mrs. Fannie Platt, children of Columbus Tustin, founder of the town. For many years, the Tustin estate has owned the major portions of land about the town and has been reluctant to subdivide and sell. Recently, however, old buildings situated on the estate property have been erected and, according to reports, a number of other old buildings in the city belonging to the estate will be torn down and new structures erected.

NEW TRACTS PLANNED

It is also reported that the Tustin estate is considering the subdivision of several acres of land in the center of the town.

The community "so ranks high among towns of the county in school advantages, having one of the finest school systems of any unincorporated town in Southern California."

More than 800 students are cared for in the grammar and high schools of the town and during the past few years, school plants have been erected which have cost the taxpayers of the district approximately $800,000. A force of nearly 40 teachers cares for the students in the schools of the district.

GOLD MINER FOUNDS TOWN

The town of Tustin was first established in 1868, when Columbus Tustin, a pioneer gold miner of San Joaquin county, who came to California in the 1849 gold rush from Oregon. After moving to Orange county, Tustin turned his attention to agricultural pursuits. The land about the town of Tustin was then covered with a heavy growth of long Mexican grass. Tustin secured 700 acres of land in the district and soon moved with his family to the place which was afterward to bear his name. The first house occupied by the Tustin family is the home known as the P. S. Adams home.

PLANTS FIRST ORANGES

The first orange trees planted in southern Orange county were planted by Tustin in Tustin in 1870, it is said. The experiment, as it was then called, was watched with great

THE ROMANCE OF AMERICA—

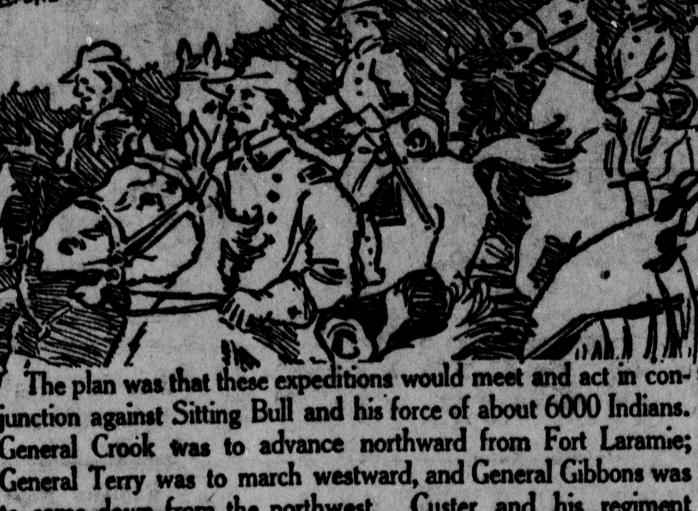

In the spring of 1873 Custer was ordered to Dakota Territory to protect the surveyors of the Northern Pacific Railway from the Indians, while that line was being located through the Indian country west of the Missouri River. Gold had been discovered in the Black Hills, and led to an influx of white gold seekers into land belonging to the Sioux Indians.

During the next three years Custer and his command saw considerable service in the Black Hills country and along the valley of the Yellowstone.

In the spring of 1876 General Sherman planned a campaign against the Indians which he hoped would be decisive. Three expeditions were set under way.

The plan was that these expeditions would meet and act in conjunction against Sitting Bull and his force of about 6000 Indians. General Crook was to advance northward from Fort Laramie; General Terry was to march westward, and General Gibbons was to come down from the northwest. Custer and his regiment formed a part of General Terry's force. (CONTINUED.)

NOBILITY

Skill sometimes is denied to man. The gifted genius cannot be And this is true, More honest than His fellow man. All cannot do What easily the genius can. Gentler and fairer than he But life is more Whose hand and brain Than triumph or Cannot attain Achievement in some art or trade, The splendor of his greater skill, And we shall find Nor can he play By being kind From day to day The friend to all with greater will. Great lives not always come to fame, Success is not a far-flung goal For just the few, Often the bravest fail to claim. That marks and shapes the finer soul. And who has wrought With kindly thought, Kept faith with all and played the man, Has filled his place On earth with grace And lived as well as genius can.

NO. 16—THE DREAM-MAKER-MAN'S SHOP

"Who is the dream for?" asked Nick.

"If you will please come into my work-shop," said the Dream-Maker Man to the Twins. "I shall finish a dream I am making. Then I can help you to look for your lost china elephant and toy clown."

So the Twins followed the Dream-Maker Man to his workshop, while Snoozie and Snuggle and Snore, his three sons, went out in their airplanes to do some errands on the moon.

Snooze was to buy a pound of star dust to make babies' eyes sparkle.

Snuggle was to buy the tails of a dozen comets to make smiles for them.

And Snore was to search all over the moon for a dimple-tree.

All these things the Dream-Maker Man used in his dreams and they were pretty hard to find.

Well, the Twins followed the Dream-Maker Man into his workshop, as I said before, and he set chairs for them while he finished making a dream.

"Who is the dream for?" asked Nick, as the Dream-Maker Man tied on a big apron and rolled up his sleeves.

"It's for a little boy down on the earth called Johnny Conway," said the Dream-Maker Man, as he began to stir up some things in a kettle, with a big spoon.

"What is it to be about?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, I forgot!" said the Dream-Maker Man. "It's a good thing you asked me that, my dear, because I am not quite sure myself yet, I have to call up my mother on the telephone and ask her what Johnny has had to eat today. It all depends, you see—it all depends! If he has had plenty of milk and fresh vegetables and eaten all his bread crusts, he is to have a dream about becoming a general and leading an army of a thousand men. I'm sure he would like to dream about being carried around on the shoulders of the people and having everybody shout, 'Hurrah! Long live the king!' I mean the general."

"But generals ride horses, don't they?" said Nick. "The people don't carry them around on their shoulders. That's just in foot-ball."

"Don't forget," said the Dream-Maker Man, "that in a dream everything goes, and generally may do anything at all. It just happens that Johnny thinks it would be fine to be carried around on people's shoulders and have them shout 'Hurrah!' He'd like to dream that."

"What kind of a dream will you give him if he doesn't eat his crusts and everything?" asked Nancy.

"At night returning, every labor sped; He sits him down, the monarch of a shed; Smiles by his cheerful fire, and round surveys His children's looks, that brighten at the blaze; While his lov'd partner, boastful of her hoard, Displays her cleanly platter on the board."

"Goldsmith's 'Traveler.'

"Oh, I'll have to send him a stored."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

KEEP IT COOL

Never leave milk out of the refrigerator longer than is absolutely necessary.

ARTISTIC SENSE

In serving foods, consider the harmony of colors as well as flavors if you want the best results.

CARE OF BREAD BOX

Scald out the bread box often during the warm weather as bread has a tendency to mold quickly. Also keep out of it scraps of bread and crumbs that tend to absorb the moisture from the bread.

TO SERVE WITH LAMB

Spiced fruit, mint or currant jelly or caper sauce are excellent relishes to serve with lamb or mutton.

SERVE WITH BEEF

Horse radish, mushrooms, apple jelly or Yorkshire pudding may be served very acceptably with roast beef.

RESTORE FRESHNESS

When lettuce or salad greens are wilted, wash them carefully in a pan of cold water into which two tablespoons of lemon juice or vinegar have been added. Let stand an hour or so, then wash in cold water and they will be quite restored.

TO AVOID SHRINKING

Flannels should be washed in several waters, all of the same temperature.

QUEER QUIRKS of NATURE

By ARTHUR PACK.

Many are the names of this bright bird to our fields and doorways. Wild canary he is to many who see in his yellow coat with its darker trimming, a resemblance to our domesticated songster of the old world. Another common name is thistle-bird, from its liking for the seeds of this plant.

All through the year seeds of some kind form its principal food.

The ripening head of a sunflower or two, even in a city yard, will frequently attract a small flock of good quality. Such a treatment not only keeps the nails looking nice for the rest of the week; but it will, given regularly, keep the nails and consequently the hands young looking well into old age.

The thorough weekly manicure is as follows:

First, shape the nails to a rounded oval that is not too long with a flexible steel file of good quality. Second, soak the fingernails for a few minutes in a bowl of warm soapy water, clean under the nails and file off the rough bits of nail that you raise by the cleaning, with the fine side of a memory board. This gives a perfectly smooth edge. Third, slip the ends of your curved manicure scissors under the edge of each nail and clip off the ragged bits of nail and skin which catch in each corner. If they are loose, rough bits of cuticle around the sides of the nail clip these off also, but do not cut the cuticle unless you absolutely must.

Fourth, if there are any stains left remove them with lemon juice, and fifth, give the nails a thorough polishing with a chamois covered buffer and rouge tinted paste or powder. Sixth, wash this off in the warm water, rub cream into the pores of the face so they gradually refine while they throw off cases of stubborn blackheads.

Extract the coarse hairs with tweezers every time they show above the skin. Stop using astrigents for a time and try nothing but very cold water for closing the pores after any kind of cleansing.

BEAN GROWERS' PROBLEM

Tomorrow's gathering at the County Park of bean growers of Orange county is important. It is a meeting that no bean grower at all interested in the industry in which he is engaged should miss. After beans are grown they must be sold at a fair figure else they might as well not be grown. And the gathering tomorrow is for the purpose of discussing the selling problem.

We have our own ideas concerning the situation. We are advocates and always have been advocates of the co-operative association idea. The association is the salvation of the California grower, whether he be grower of beans, oranges, lemons, walnuts or some other of our numerous products. We know, as everyone knows, that this is to be a heavy bean crop year. One need but to ride out on the Irvine ranch and take a look at the great expanse of beans, with as nearly perfect a stand as one could find, all thriving and growing like proverbial weeds, to realize that it is a wonderful year for beans. Even the high fogs that many of us wish would pass have been the very thing for the limas.

With a maximum acreage in beans all over Southern California and with beans everywhere promising heavy production, the marketing problem for the year assumes enhanced importance.

It's our opinion that the hope of the bean growers for this year, more than any other for a decade, lies in strengthening the association and in upholding the hands of its leaders. The acreage in the association ought to be increased materially. If this year's crop of lima beans is not sold at a fair price, the fault will not be with the association but will lie with the grower who stays outside.

FELLOWSHIP OF YOUTH—FINIS

The Register has received a communication from a committee of Santa Ana post, American Legion, giving additional information gathered by the committee during its investigation of the Fellowship of Youth for Peace movement.

This communication goes into detail, showing the relationship, one to the other, through interlocking directorates, of a number of peace organizations. This indicates that the committee has done its work thoroughly and patriotically, a fact that none has questioned.

Recently the Register editorially expressed its belief that arguments in the matter were all in, and suggested that all parties concerned might allow the discussion to drop from the columns of the Register. However, there is no desire on the part of the Register to put the lid on the presentation of pertinent facts and arguments, and our inclination, therefore, would be to open the subject again, so that none could say he had not had an opportunity to say his say in full. It appears, though, that one article would call for another and that for a third, and the third for a fourth. Talking the situation over with the representatives of the American Legion, who seemed to be very well satisfied that their position had been made perfectly clear, the general conclusion was that it is best to let the matter remain as a closed incident, with this statement:

The committee, of which Dr. Farrage is chairman, has a large amount of data on hand concerning the movement, and this data is open to inspection and study by anyone interested in going further into the matter. The Legion has nothing to hide, of course, and is only interested in getting at the facts of the case. Whatever information it has can be had by anyone desiring it.

From news stories of the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial published so far, it seems that the most interesting feature of the fair is how many people are going to attend when they get started.

WHAT PRICE PISTOL PACKING?

Observe this pistol packing tragedy in New Mexico. Carl C. Magee is editor of a paper in Albequerque. He is variously called "The Fighting Editor," "Militant Editor," etc. All of which he is and all of which is all right. But Magee is something else. He is a pistol packer. And that is why he is now on trial for killing his friend accidentally. If Magee had not been a pistol packer he would not now be grief stricken over having killed his friend and would not be on trial for manslaughter and in danger of being sent to the penitentiary. Moreover, and more important, the wife and children and mother and father and sisters and brothers of Magee's friend would not be grieving over his untimely and tragic death.

Magee criticized in his paper the official conduct of Judge David L. Leahy. He was haled into court and sentenced to prison for contempt of court. The Governor pardoned him. Subsequently the judge met Magee in a hotel lobby and knocked him down and began kicking him. Magee drew a pistol and warned the judge that if he did not cease his brutal attack he (Magee) would fire. The judge continued his attack and Magee did fire. But just as he fired Magee's friend rushed forward to protect him and received Magee's bullet in a vital part of his body.

Now observe this: If Magee had had no pistol what would have happened? His friend would have stopped the attack upon him just as quickly as it was stopped by Magee's fatal bullet. Magee's pistol did not protect him at all. It merely brought upon him greater trouble.

P. S.—Since the foregoing was put in type Magee has been acquitted.

SOLID KNOWLEDGE OF NORTH

When the Bowdoin sails once more for the Arctic on June 19, in command of Donald B. MacMillan, it will not create so much interest and excitement as the recent Byrd and Amundsen expeditions. It is not a spectacular expedition and is not headed for the Pole. It is simply a continuation of the methodical, scientific study of the Arctic region to which MacMillan has already devoted so much time and skill.

It is stated that he has so far attained 21 objects which have affected the maps of the world. He is still at work making hitherto uncharted areas part of white man's record and knowledge.

He has found coal in Bay Fiord. He has found the records of the Kane and second Grinnell expeditions. He has added greatly to civilization's information about geology, botany, ornithology and meteorology. He has helped compile a dictionary of 3,000 words in the Eskimo language.

The spectacular dashes for the attainment of a single objective have their uses and are important. So, too, are the continued expeditions of simple exploration. Both types are opening up to the rest of the world the secrets of the mysterious North.

John D. Jr. might offer Mexico that $10,000,000 for an archaeological museum. Plenty of pyramids and things down there. Also oil.

Put Teeth in Procedure

Pasadena Star-News

Sweeping revision of California criminal laws, to make criminal procedure more effective, was endorsed by unanimous vote of district attorneys of the state, in state convention at Wawona. This action followed a stirring presentation of the menace of crime and criminals by Maj. Walter K. Tuller, of Los Angeles, chairman of the State Commission for the Revision of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The code now in force is recognized by district attorneys as antiquated and inadequate to the needs of the state in the constant battle with criminality. The commission, which is headed by Major Tuller, has formulated a tentative revision, embracing eleven points. These range from providing that three-fourths of a jury may bring in a verdict in any criminal case not involving the death penalty, to a provision that any person convicted of carrying without a permit a concealed deadly weapon shall be guilty of a felony. Other proposed changes are: Authorization for a judge to comment on the facts submitted to the jury—this oftentimes would clear up obscurities and misconceptions among jurymen and would lead to quick verdicts in accordance with law. The right to waive trial by jury through agreement between defense and prosecution—this should save much time and expense, and should bring swifter verdicts. Probation to be given only to first offenders—this should bring reform where it is needed—abuse of the probationing prerogative. Furthermore, probation not to be granted in any circumstances if convicted person carries a deadly concealed weapon. These restrictions on carrying deadly concealed weapons should effect wholesome reforms.

Another reformatory proposal is that no person sentenced to life imprisonment is to be given parole until a minimum term of twenty-five years has been served.

Other proposals would expedite processes in criminal courts, simplify procedure and make enforcement of law more effective.

California sorely needs these proposed betterments. With the support of the judges, lawyers, district attorneys, civic and patriotic organizations and the people in general, these reforms should be brought to consummation as quickly as action can be had by the legislature.

Miracles by Electricity

Pasadena Star-News

The work of 25,000,000 men is done by electricity on the Pacific coast. The amount of current produced in the Pacific West is 2,500,000 horsepower. Only about one-sixth of the Nation's hydro-electric possibilities have been developed.

These and other enthralling facts were brought out by speakers before the Pacific Coast Electrical Association meeting in Los Angeles.

Notable development and use of electricity is in the household. Particularly in refrigerating and heating, is the problem of the housewife being solved by electrical energy. The drudgery of the kitchen and the parlor, the sleeping rooms and the laundry is being abated, and electricity, operating through labor-saving devices, is doing the work, for the most part.

California is using electrical energy in greater volume than any other state of the Union. Hydroelectric development in this state has reached huge proportions. And yet the possibilities by no means have been exhausted.

Electricity is coming into more general use in houses, factories, orchards and fields here, as intelligent comprehension of its possibilities spreads among the people. California is the best electrified state—so to speak—of all the commonwealths of the Union. Thanks to its wonderful waterpower, electrical energy is being produced so as to be sold at low rate, comparatively. This is contributing a great deal to California's economic development.

What disarmament really means is the abandonment of large equipment created and maintained solely for war. Fundamentally, it is the abrogation of the war spirit and the purposeful preparation for war. That is a comparatively simple rule to go by in making a disarmament agreement. It is not so much the actual equipment for war as the spirit of war that is dangerous. The equipment serves to keep the spirit alive and give it a medium of expression at times when it would not so express itself if the purposefully maintained equipment did not exist. Disarmament in that sense would not be a difficult thing if the nations would but abandon their fight of the war bogey.

As it is, it is possible for a "life prisoner" to be paroled out of restraint in seven years from the time he begins his sentence. The recommendation is that the minimum be 25 years.

Such a rule is necessary to give meaning to the life sentence. As it is, that provision of the law has been brought into considerable contempt among those who have any attitude toward the penalties of the law. They know that murder no longer means hanging, in the sight of many juries, and that life imprisonment, the alternative, means no more than seven years. They are much more willing to "take a chance" if they are professional murderers. And prosecutors in our large cities have found plenty of evidence that there is a trade in crime—murder as well as robbery.

In answer to the "Change This Parole Ruling" suggestion that the parole regulations in California affecting the status of life prisoners be reformed, should be headed by the coming session of the legislature. The suggestion comes from men who should know, the legislative committee of the district attorney's association of this state, and the members of the governor's crime commission.

Nuisances manifested by offensive odors and unsightliness may also result. Thus the public health and comfort are disturbed.

The wholesome recreation afforded by fishing, bathing and boating may be jeopardized by pollution. Bathing in polluted water is so manifestly hazardous as to require repeated words of warning.

Fish life may be entirely destroyed by pollution due to industrial wastes. Live stock, through inability to obtain plentiful supplies of safe water, may also suffer.

With these tangible ill effects it is not surprising that property values in the vicinity of a body of polluted water depreciate materially, while owners protest in vigorous terms.

Hang Your Clothes on a Hickory Limb, But

What Is Armament?

Riverside Press

A vital matter upon which the various delegates to the preliminary conference on disarmament disagree is that of what armament actually is. Some hold that it is only the big and visible actual engines of war, such as a mobilized army, naval vessels, war planes, artillery, munitions, etc. Others hold that it is everything that can be used in war, even to national credit. Under the first definition it would not be difficult to reach some sort of disarmament agreement, provided all really wanted to do so. But when differences in population must be taken into account, and the nation with 60,000,000 people is held to be twice as much armed as one with 30,000,000, the problem becomes a difficult one.

Since the things used in peace may also be used in war, and since war now is an industrial struggle between nations as well as an armed conflict, it follows that an industrial nation like the United States and Great Britain is better armed, in that fuller sense, than a less industrial one like Italy. Any effort to take such things into account and try to adjust them as factors of disarmament must lead to endless confusion and disagreement. Industrial nations can not scrap their machinery because it is of a nature serviceable in time of war. Nor can a nation which has developed commercial aviation or purposes to do so, cease such development for the reason that its peace time air equipment could be converted quickly to the uses of war.

What disarmament really means is the abandonment of large equipment created and maintained solely for war. Fundamentally, it is the abrogation of the war spirit and the purposeful preparation for war. That is a comparatively simple rule to go by in making a disarmament agreement. It is not so much the actual equipment for war as the spirit of war that is dangerous. The equipment serves to keep the spirit alive and give it a medium of expression at times when it would not so express itself if the purposefully maintained equipment did not exist. Disarmament in that sense would not be a difficult thing if the nations would but abandon their fight of the war bogey.

Electricity is coming into more general use in houses, factories, orchards and fields here, as intelligent comprehension of its possibilities spreads among the people. California is the best electrified state—so to speak—of all the commonwealths of the Union. Thanks to its wonderful waterpower, electrical energy is being produced so as to be sold at low rate, comparatively. This is contributing a great deal to California's economic development.

As it is, it is possible for a "life prisoner" to be paroled out of restraint in seven years from the time he begins his sentence. The recommendation is that the minimum be 25 years.

Such a rule is necessary to give meaning to the life sentence. As it is, that provision of the law has been brought into considerable contempt among those who have any attitude toward the penalties of the law. They know that murder no longer means hanging, in the sight of many juries, and that life imprisonment, the alternative, means no more than seven years. They are much more willing to "take a chance" if they are professional murderers. And prosecutors in our large cities have found plenty of evidence that there is a trade in crime—murder as well as robbery.

In answer to the "Change This Parole Ruling" suggestion that the parole regulations in California affecting the status of life prisoners be reformed, should be headed by the coming session of the legislature. The suggestion comes from men who should know, the legislative committee of the district attorney's association of this state, and the members of the governor's crime commission.

JONES FEATURES BRITISH GOLF QUALIFYING

"Lefty" Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics is the greatest southpaw since the days of "Rube" Waddell. I desire to qualify that statement a trifle by saying I have in mind physical greatness in making such a comparison.

Since the days of Waddell there have been a number of famous southpaws, some of them just as consistent winners as the original George Edward.

There have been smarter southpaws than Waddell. There have been left handers with more competitive spirit. But none has approached Rube in physical greatness like Grove. Vean Gregg, when in his prime, was closest.

Grove has the speed of Waddell. Probably as much but certainly no more. His curve is just about as sharp breaking.

In one respect the two differ quite widely. Waddell kept his fast ball letter high and pitched to the handles of the bats. Grove, on the other hand, keeps his fast ball much lower.

When Grove acquires the ability to buzz the fast ones over letter high and on the inside corner, his effectiveness will be considerably increased.

In major league baseball no club lacking a seasoned infield of veterans is given much consideration as a pennant contender.

Despite this belief the New York Yankees are going along winning a lot more ball games than they are losing.

The Yankee infield has two youngsters at short and second, Koenig and Lazzeri. This would ordinarily be considered fatal to pennant chances, yet the Yanks keep on winning.

As a matter of fact, when the Yankees won 16 straight ball games, the infield was made up almost entirely of recruits.

Gehrig in his second year as a regular held down first. Lazzeri was at second, Koenig at short and Mike Gazella at third. Gazella was subbing for Joe Dugan, out with an injured finger.

Not one member of the infield, with the exception of Gehrig, boasted more than a brief experience as a big leaguer.

Perhaps the Yankees intend to upset precedent by going the route at their sensational spring gait.

The Yankees appear to be bent on distancing the rest of the field in the American league Derby.

Some idea of the chances of the New York Americans to win the 1926 pennant can be gleaned from the following figures:

First, it must be understood that any team able to win 90 or more games in either major league is considered to have an excellent chance to go over.

To dope out the situation we will take the first 39 games played by the club as a basis for our deductions.

Of that number the Yankees managed to win 30 while losing only nine. Since the schedule calls for 154 games, 115 games at this particular time remain to be played.

If, during the rest of the season, the Yanks could win only 60 games while losing 55, the club would have a record of 90 victories at the finish.

Thus it is apparent the Yanks need only to play a trifl better than .500 ball to win 90 games, always believed enough to give a club a chance to cop.

In other words, the Yankees are sitting quite pretty.

"Kid" Gleason, veteran star of other days, now assisting Connie Mack in handling the Philadelphia Athletics, has his own definite ideas about battling the New York Americans.

In the eyes of Gleason, Ruth and Gehrig are the two big threats of the club, although he is willing to admit that every man in the lineup is dangerous.

To have a chance with the Yankees when they are in a hitting mood you must play to Ruth and Gehrig, thinks Gleason. They are the two batters who must be sacrificed for an opposing club to be uniformly successful.

"By playing to Ruth and Gehrig, I am taking no chances," explains Gleason. "In other words, with runners on and Ruth or Gehrig up, I would always favor passing either one if there was an open base."

"I would go even further and say I would favor passing them, even though it meant that you would be compelled to place the winning run on first base."

"It has been my experience that you can't pitch to dangerous batters in a pinch and get away with it to any considerable extent."

"Such batters are always a menace, and a base on balls is often the best solution."

YOUNG COURT STARS CLASH AT BERKELEY

BERKELEY, Calif., June 17.—Interest in the Pacific Coast tennis championships today was entirely settled on the fifth round in the men's singles, in which two of the most promising young players of the coast were slated to meet.

They were Bobby Sellers, San Francisco, and Johnny Doe, Santa Monica.

Sellers yesterday surprised players and gallery alike by defeating his formidable and experienced adversary, Morgan Fottrell, 6-2, 6-4.

The victory brought Sellers into the limelight with Doe, who until yesterday had drawn the greatest attention.

HELEN NOT TO PLAY DOUBLES AT WIMBLEDON

LOS ANGELES, June 17.—The Hollywood Athletic Club has entered 1 prominent Southern California athletes in the National A. A. U. championships at Philadelphia on July 2, 3 and 5.

Seven of the men are already in the eastern city. They are Leighton Dye, Kenneth Grumbles, Lee Barnes, Gene Dorsey, Henry Gogeshall, Alden Ross and Cliff Reynolds.

The other entrants are Charley Borah, Jimmy Payne, Fred Harlow, Jack Williams and "Bud" Houser.

The H. A. C. plans to send Houser east in an airplane as he must stay here until several days after the meet.

He is considered right now the best second baseman in the circuit and has been fighting for the lead in batting with an average of .410. This is a league where they have some mighty sweet old veterans who can sock the ball with much elat although their legs or arms aren't what they used to be.

Lou is young in years and base-ball service. He ought to be set to star for many years, given the right breaks.

PARIS, June 17—Helen Wills has decided to remain out of the mixed doubles competition at Wimbledon and probably will not appear in the singles, she told the United Press today.

"I decided not to play in the mixed doubles because Elizabeth Ryan can play with Vincent Richards, with whom I was to have played. It is believed that this would be a stronger team, and I think so too. I might play singles, for which I am entered, but I am not sure about that. Mother doesn't want me to play, although the doctor says I can."

"What I don't want is to be forced to stop playing in case I might not be strong enough."

Helen and her mother will depart for England Saturday.

Handicapped by the absence of their champion, American women tennis players today entered the two day competition with British stars for the Wightman cup.

Majority opinion favored another British victory, not only because of the loss of Miss Wills through an operation for appendicitis, but because of the slight opportunity the Americans have had to practice on turf courts since the hard court championships at Paris.

The presence of Elizabeth Ryan of California, among the Americans has strengthened the invaders, although Miss Ryan has been somewhat off her game since her arrival from America.

Threatening weather, with desul-tory drizzles, prevailed.

WILLIAMS RAPS CHANNEL WILL HOMER TO BEAT CONQUER U. S. FOUNTAIN, 6-4 GIRLS CLAIM

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 17.—No swimmer—male or female—will be able to swim the English channel this year in the opinion of numerous French and English swimming experts and trainers.

Abnormal weather conditions, following a terrible winter on the ocean and an extremely tardy spring, will prevail during the summer season and will make it extremely perilous for a man to attempt the battle with the channel tides and virtually impossible for a woman.

Before starting a recent trip across channel, the writer asked a hard faced old veteran of the crew if he thought a woman ever would be able to conquer the cold water, the tides and the waves that are a part of the channel's daily routine.

"Tony" Cochems acted as proxy for the great Mansfield and was a capable substitute until the ninth when the Peeks fell on him with everything but the grandstand.

Going into the last frame one run in arrears, the Peeks scored thrice before Cochems was able to quell their slugging rally. Higgins led off with an infield single, took second on a wild pitch and scored when Joe Irvine singled to right. Matheny was safe on an error but Irvine was plucked off second base. Williams thereupon slammed a terrific drive over Walbridge in right field that was good for the lead that assured them victory.

"Swim 'er?" the old salt answered. "Tis a hard job for a man to ride 'er. Look at the way she's running now. I'd call the bubbles if a girl of mine tried to swim 'er."

He said that only the greatest of luck ever had enabled a man to swim across and that it needed more luck to make it possible for a girl.

TRAINERS SKETICAL

Even those who are to train Gertrude Ederle, Lillian Cannon, and other American misses who are to make the attempt this summer, are skeptical that the young Americans will be successful.

They and others, interested in the success of any adventurous young woman feel that the year is against them. The channel, they say, has been crazy all winter, colder and more tricky than ever and they are of the opinion that the same conditions will prevail all year.

Capt. Jenssen, master of the S. S. Minnekahda, who was on the bridge of the Lapland when she was submarined during the war and who has been on the sea since he was able to handle a line said that last winter was the worst he had ever seen and he expressed the opinion that abnormal conditions in all ocean waters would prevail all through the summer.

TO BRAVE CHANNEL

Too Much Water

The boat, tied up at the dock was bobbing up and down like one of those trick floor devices at Coney Island and waves were breaking over the prow. With the exception of one or two celebrants who had reached a "don't care" condition on the train from London, the passengers were all violently ill and the trip hadn't started.

"Swim 'er?" the old salt answered. "Tis a hard job for a man to ride 'er. Look at the way she's running now. I'd call the bubbles if a girl of mine tried to swim 'er."

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

LAGUNA BEACH JUDGE CLEARED IN BOOZE CASE

LAGUNA BEACH, June 17.—Complete vindication of L. V. Murphy, Justice of the peace of Laguna township, of any connection with alleged liquor smuggling activities at Laguna Beach is contained in a letter addressed to the chamber of commerce by Caryl M. Sheldon, chief counsel for the federal prohibition administrator in the Southern California district. Mr. Sheldon supplemented this in an interview with the Register's Laguna Beach correspondent. Statements also have been made to Judge Murphy by District Attorney Nelson, Chief Deputy District Attorney Mooley and Sheriff Jernigan, according to former Judge Edward M. DeAhna, saying that the county authorities have investigated conditions in Laguna Beach many times and that Judge Murphy's record has been that of a man who has made every effort to prosecute violators of the liquor law.

In his letter to the chamber of commerce, Mr. Sheldon says:

"Judge Murphy's name has been mentioned in connection with the smuggling activities at Laguna Beach. Our investigation has not disclosed any evidence to substantiate these rumors."

Because a Los Angeles newspaper had printed a story to the effect that Judge Murphy had been arrested and placed under bail, the Register correspondent interviewed Mr. Sheldon, who said:

"I wrote that letter to clear Judge Murphy of any suspicion in the case at Laguna Beach because of untrue stories that had been printed and which did not come from the federal office, but from sources in Santa Ana. There were no arrests in the case, at least no complaints were filed. The only person taken into custody was the proprietor of an auto camp, who made a confession. Because of his age, we did not prosecute him. Two others, one of whom was Judge Murphy, was asked to attend a conference at the district attorney's office in Santa Ana, at which I was present. I will say that we made a thorough investigation of the case in Laguna Beach and interviewed the county police authorities and questioned all connected with the case and that we found nothing that would cast any suspicion on Judge Murphy. It is only fair to him, in view of the innuendoes and misstatements printed, that he be given a clean slate."

According to Mr. Sheldon, the alleged confession of the auto camp man did not include Judge Murphy. Judge Murphy today expressed gratification that Mr. Sheldon had cleared his name. He expressed amazement that certain Los Angeles newspapers would print untrue statements for which there was not the slightest provocation.

Barracuda Catch Is Expensive

SEAL BEACH, June 17.—Two tons of barracuda with a round-haul net promised good luck and ended in bad luck for K. Sheragama, captain of a fishing boat, and his companions, F. Horqueta, K. F. Oishi and M. Takeuchi, who were brought before Judge G. H. Morrison charged with violation of fish and game laws.

At a later hearing, K. Sheragama assumed full responsibility and the other men were dismissed and Sheragama liberated on $300 bail.

At the second hearing, Sheragama pleaded guilty and a fine of $150 and 100 days in jail imposed, the jail sentence being suspended.

2 NEW TEACHERS EMPLOYED AT L. B.

LAGUNA BEACH, June 17.—Two charming and popular young women of Laguna Beach, who have just graduated from college, have accepted positions to teach next fall in public schools. They are Miss Lucinda M. Griffith, daughter of William A. Griffith, noted artist and president of the Laguna Beach Art Association, and Miss Zelda Handy, daughter of Joe Handy, orange rancher and noted as a sportsman.

Miss Griffith has just received her diploma from Pomona college and will teach at the William McKinley school in Santa Ana, where she the family formerly resided.

Miss Handy is claimed by Laguna Beach, where she has spent most of her time, although the family home is in Orange. She will teach the third grade in the Laguna Beach grammar school next fall.

Miss Handy has just graduated from southern branch, where she took a special course to fit her for her work.

Laguna Beach will have two new teachers next fall. Beside Miss Handy, Mrs. Maud Test, for 12 years in one school at Hughson, Calif., has signed a contract. Miss Helen L. Fleming has resigned and will accept one of two positions offered in Los Angeles, it is believed, although she may do Americanization work.

The staff of teachers will be augmented by one and this will bring about a rearrangement of the teaching plan. G. K. Bingham, principal, who has taught the seventh and eighth grades, will have only the eighth and will devote more time to the administration of the school.

Mrs. Test will have the sixth and seventh grades. Mrs. Wilberta Main, who has had a most successful year, will teach the fourth and fifth grades. If there is an overflow from these grades, part of the second grade will be taught by Miss Handy. F. F. Foster has been retained as janitor.

In the course of the hearing, Hankey alleged that O'Neal cursed him, thus provoking him to anger.

W. R. C. SPEAKER URGES SUPPORT FOR LIQUOR LAW

ORANGE, June 17.—In an address in which he stressed observance to the 18th amendment, Albert Stulkey, Fullerton, division councilor of the Sons of Veterans, spoke last night to more than 350 Masons from all parts of Orange county, who gathered to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Huntington Beach Masonic Lodge.

A. Prink, master of the local lodge, acted as master of ceremonies. The meeting was held in the city auditorium on account of the large crowd. Women of the Eastern Star chapter and the Amaranth order served a banquet earlier in the evening. Following the banquet, a cleverly arranged program was presented under the direction of S. H. Price.

Voluntary selections were given by Jessie E. Read, Riverside, permanent president of the W. R. C. in which she asked that the local organization exert itself to raise its quota of a $5000 fund to be raised in the department of California and Nevada for a scholarship fund. The quota for each member is 11 cents. Approximately $1200 remains to be raised.

As the meeting was somewhat in the nature of a Flag day celebration, a dinner was given and a patriotic program rendered. The Rev. Percy Wise Clarkson read "The History of the American Flag," and Mae Easton, Riverside, a member of the executive board of the W. R. C. sang a patriotic solo. Eleanor Jones played the piano. Plans were laid for a visit of the drill team of 18 members to Fullerton on June 25, to perform at a reception to be given for Charles Parker, division commander of the Sons of Veterans. The local drill team is in constant demand because of its selection as third best in a drill contest at Pasadena during the department convention.

Officers of the W. R. C. plan to meet for their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Katherine Hitchcock, 190 South Olive street, next Tuesday at 2 p. m.

HIGH MASONIC OFFICERS PRESENT AT HUNTINGTON BEACH LODGE CELEBRATION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 17.—Will H. Fisher, senior grand master of the grand lodge, and Dr. Samuel E. Burke, past grand master, spoke last night to more than 350 Masons from all parts of Orange county, who gathered to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Huntington Beach Masonic Lodge.

Mrs. B. Herron, of Huntington Beach, and Gordon Drew, of Fullerton, Miss. Wilma Pothoff accompanied the vocalists at the piano. Miss Edna Warner rendered piano selections. Reading numbers were given by Miss Dorothy Drew, of Huntington Beach, and William Perkins, of Long Beach.

Following the program, the auditorium floor was cleared of chairs and a dance was held, which lasted until a late hour. The celebration of the lodge anniversary was declared to be the most elaborate lodge affair ever staged by local Masons.

Another social affair will be staged in July by local Masons, when they entertain members of the Silver Cord Lodge of Santa Ana.

Voluntary selections were given by Jessie E. Read, Riverside, permanent president of the W. R. C. in which she asked that the local organization exert itself to raise its quota of a $5000 fund to be raised in the department of California and Nevada for a scholarship fund. The quota for each member is 11 cents. Approximately $1200 remains to be raised.

As the meeting was somewhat in the nature of a Flag day celebration, a dinner was given and a patriotic program rendered. The Rev. Percy Wise Clarkson read "The History of the American Flag," and Mae Easton, Riverside, a member of the executive board of the W. R. C. sang a patriotic solo. Eleanor Jones played the piano. Plans were laid for a visit of the drill team of 18 members to Fullerton on June 25, to perform at a reception to be given for Charles Parker, division commander of the Sons of Veterans. The local drill team is in constant demand because of its selection as third best in a drill contest at Pasadena during the department convention.

Officers of the W. R. C. plan to meet for their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Katherine Hitchcock, 190 South Olive street, next Tuesday at 2 p. m.
